

GB ANNEX 1 – SPECIAL PROVISIONS BY ACCOUNT TYPE

This annex forms an integral part of the GMOPLUS Global General Terms of Use and governs the specific rules applicable to the account types defined in Article 3.

Each user is required to comply with the provisions corresponding to their registered account type. GMOPLUS reserves the right to amend or update these provisions at any time.

Distributor / Dealer Account

Purpose:

For companies that represent, distribute, or sell national or international brand products.

Special Provisions:

- The distributor may market the represented products only within the authorized regions.
 - All product descriptions and prices must be accurate and up to date.
 - GMOPLUS may suspend the account in cases of unfair competition or unauthorized brand representation.
 - Dealers may register sub-dealers, provided that each sub-dealer signs a separate agreement.
 - The dealer must use GMOPLUS's digital ordering infrastructure for all transactions.

Foreign Trade Company Account

Purpose:

For commercial enterprises engaged in import or export operations.

Special Provisions:

- The company must conduct all foreign-trade activities in compliance with national and international trade regulations.
 - Customs, transport, and documentation data must be accurately uploaded to the GMOPLUS system.
 - GMOPLUS is not responsible for verifying the accuracy of submitted documents; liability rests solely with the user.
 - Taxes, duties, and third-party charges arising from trade operations are the sole responsibility of the user.

Foreign Trade Expert Account

Purpose:

For professionals providing consultancy, analysis, or market-research services in the field of import/export.

Special Provisions:

- The expert may provide consultancy services only and may not engage in direct trade transactions.
- Consultancy fees are determined either through the GMOPLUS system or directly between the parties; GMOPLUS does not intervene in fee arrangements.

- The expert must keep all confidential information obtained during consultancy strictly confidential.
 - GMOPLUS may review expert profiles for quality control and customer-satisfaction purposes.

4 Logistics Company Account

Purpose:

For enterprises providing transportation, warehousing, or customs-clearance services.

Special Provisions:

- The logistics company must enter all shipment-related information (price, delivery time, tracking number, etc.) accurately in the system.
 - Liability for damage, loss, or delay rests solely with the executing company.
 - GMOPLUS provides a digital comparison interface for logistics offers but does not act as an intermediary.
 - The logistics company must maintain valid insurance documentation for all international shipments.

5 Independent Foreign Trade Representative Account

Purpose:

For independent professionals acting as trade intermediaries or representatives.

Special Provisions:

- The representative may carry out commission-based transactions via GMOPLUS.
 - The identities and legal information of all parties involved must be verified before each transaction.
 - The representative is not a contractual party between buyer and seller but acts solely as an intermediary.
 - GMOPLUS assumes no liability for the actions or commitments of the representative.

6 Visitor Account

Purpose:

For individuals who wish to explore the GMOPLUS platform, view companies, and browse products.

Special Provisions:

- Visitor accounts are limited to passive use; they cannot place orders, make offers, or perform sales transactions.
 - Visitors may access information solely for informational purposes and not for commercial exploitation.
 - Visitor data are stored for a limited period and do not grant access to commercial features.

7 Manufacturer Account

Purpose:

For industrial or manufacturing companies producing their own goods.

Special Provisions:

- The manufacturer must clearly state all product specifications, production capacity, and warranty conditions.

- Misleading or incomplete product information may result in suspension of the account.
 - The manufacturer may establish a distributor or dealer network through GMOPPLUS but remains solely responsible for such business relationships.
 - Product safety, quality standards, and certification processes are the sole responsibility of the manufacturer.

Import / Export Company Account

Purpose:

For companies engaged in both import and export operations.

Special Provisions:

- The company may build both supply and distribution networks through GMOPPLUS.
 - All transactions must comply with the laws and trade agreements of the respective partner country.
 - GMOPPLUS provides digital tools for document management, offer tracking, and communication but is not a contractual party.
 - All import/export documents must be digitally signed and archived within the system by the company.

General Supplementary Provisions

- GMOPPLUS may verify the appropriateness of an account type at any time and reclassify it if necessary.
- The user undertakes not to infringe any third-party intellectual-property or trademark rights within their activities.
- All account types are subject to the provisions of the GMOPPLUS Global General Terms of Use and must be interpreted together with this annex.
